MEIRA Updates

Dear MEIRA Members, Partners and friends, there's much happening at MEIRA, come summer hols or not!

ESG June continues at MEIRA - the recent discussion with the UK Minister for Pensions was sensational in its content, leadership and openness, something not lost on our own stellar line-up of MEIRA speakers. Bravo!

We look forward to the follow-on events, starting with our collaboration with IHS Markit, MEIRA partner, that brings Dr. Christine Chow, international ESG expert, to our next discussion on 10 June. It doesn't get better, does it, folks?!

Well, we can only try. That said, do you know what we are most excited about? While ESG or sustainability reporting continue to capture the imagination, from policy-makers and regulators to companies and investors, what about the MEIRA annual IR awards and conference?

MEIRA IR Awards - these opened on 1 June and close for your entries on 15 July. Don't wait, just send us the links!

Conference - just to think we may be in a position to host you in-person and online again makes the heart flutter!

The film buffs may recall Kubrick's 2001: A Space Odyssey. Well, it's our turn, albeit no plans to travel to Jupiter or Mars yet! Allow us to again share our intriguing annual conference theme, MEIRA 2021: An Odyssey, from ESG to IR. This year, our IR event of the year takes place on Monday, 25 October 2021, at the Address Skyview, Dubai, coincide with the one and only, Expo 2020, so, yes, let's make it hybrid, blended, whatever we call it, let's get phy-gital, we need it - just look at the vibrant marketing collaterals, love it!

Today, we cannot speak of IR without thinking of responsible, transparent and sustainable business. IR is ESG and ESG is IR. It is evident that the world of IR is moving quickly in response to the increasingly discerning needs of our target audiences, not least more vocal and active investors. The biggest investors are certainly expecting to see issuers not only address material factors, all part and parcel of running good business, but report on these in a way that makes it easier for investors and other important stakeholders to track progress, see results and appreciate what a difference this makes to their investment or the business proposition. At the same time, we need to consider any impact on these stakeholders given the inevitable trade-offs we all face.

It clearly makes sense from a business point of view and presumably, it should also make sense for a broader community in which business has a licence to operate? The challenge, as we all know, is to think strategically, very much an IR role. We need to work out what metrics are best used, share these and consistently report on them as part of widely accepted international standards. This takes time and there's no better time to start than now, if you haven't already done so. I think we get the message. At MEIRA, we see our job to help you make sense of all that needs to be done, whether internally driven by you or in response to the demands of others, including what looks like increasingly mandatory sustainability reporting, for example, if not wholly uniform practices across international markets.

IR Practitioners Survey - last but not least, no summer will be complete this year without our biennial survey that asks you about your IR, what is changing and where IR is heading. Please respond when this comes out shortly and we'll share all key findings with you at the MEIRA annual conference on 25 October 2021 - register now!

We're chomping at the bit again, so let's keep going, IR/ESG people, for what will surely be another quick and exciting, yet equally nourishing and sustainable, year at MEIRA, your very own professional body for IR (and ESG)!
