Stirrup Communications Consultants is an independent strategic communications consultancy and corporate design studio headquartered in India, serving clients across Asia. Founded by Arvind Agrawal in 2006, Stirrup is now part of Xcelerate, a Singapore based ESGRC platform.

For nearly 20 years, Stirrup has been serving established and emerging businesses across sectors; communicating their purpose, promise, performance and potential to stakeholders, and building better relationships. We bring together the power of strategic thinking, content craft, pragmatic design and delivery discipline to produce business critical communication solutions spanning corporate reporting, sustainability advisory, brand, culture and digital.

Stirrup has built long-standing relationships with marquee names and global brands, with its home-grown clients representing nearly half of India's market capitalisation, and are among the leaders in every major sector.

Stirrup's 150 member strong team operating from two studios in Mumbai and Kolkata, as well as a satellite presence in other locations (Dubai, Singapore, Hyderabad and Delhi) represents a unique talent mix, providing consulting, content and creative expertise to deliver end-to-end solutions across print, digital, motion and experiential platforms.

With multiple national and international awards to our name, Stirrup stands apart for its ability to transform complex business narratives into compelling, human-centred communications that engage investors, employees, customers, regulators and communities.
